

Journey to Excellence
2018

Overview

Scouting's Journey to Excellence (JTE) unit recognition is designed to encourage continuous improvement in using the methods and resources of Scouting for the benefit of boys and young men in chartered Scouting units. The JTE scorecard for each unit measures how well the unit meets standards defined by the National Council, BSA. Units are recognized for achieving the standards at a Bronze, Silver, or Gold level.

For units chartered to The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, JTE serves as an indicator of the effective use of Scouting in support of the Primary and Aaronic Priesthood. As such, it is an important aid to adult Scouting leaders in assessing overall quorum and Primary support to youth members. However, achievement of a JTE level does not guarantee that Church objectives are being met, and, conversely, progress toward Church priorities such as Duty to God does not necessarily mean that the Scouting component is being effective.

JTE standards are intended to change from year to year, both to "raise the bar" and to emphasize different aspects of Scouting's programs. Therefore, a unit that has achieved Gold level in one year may be recognized at the Silver level for the same general level of achievement. The National Council has stated:

"Journey to Excellence changes the basic way we measure and recognize success in the Boy Scouts of America by moving away from measuring process and moving to measuring performance. The following provides specific information to help you understand the criteria and exactly what data will be used to determine the three levels of performance. In planning your strategy, use actual numbers from the previous year to guide your performance improvement goal planning. In the crew, youth leaders should take the lead in making this assessment. "

JTE is designed to serve as a set of guideposts for unit efforts during the year, not just as a checklist to be reviewed at the end of the year. Quality doesn't just "happen" in the course of unit operation; it is something that is achieved through directed effort. This guide is intended to help unit leaders plan, carry out, and record actions leading to a true "Journey to Excellence".

The EYO Scouts are chartered within the Boy Scout troop, but they function as a separate patrol under the direction of the Primary. Several objectives will be scored the same as the overall troop, but some will be specific to the EYO patrol.

2018 Journey to Excellence Standards

In order to qualify for JTE recognition, each of the units must qualify for a minimum number of objectives to be recognized at Bronze, Silver, or Gold level. For each item, points are awarded for achieving performance at the specified level. Overall level is determined by the total number of points awarded for all items.

Criteria set by the National Council readily apply to typical Scouting units in other parts of the United States. However, a few of the criteria cannot be applied to units chartered to LDS wards on the Wasatch Front without unfairly judging the efforts required to achieve JTE objectives. For these objectives, we have substituted alternate criteria, while neither giving our units an unfair advantage nor penalizing them for circumstances beyond their control.

Planning and Budget Measures

Planning and Budget (#1 for all units)

The unit has a written budget that is reviewed at all unit committee meetings, and the unit follows BSA and LDS policies relating to fundraising and fiscal management as found on the Unit Money-Earning Application form, the unit treasurer's book [if applicable], and any other publication that the council has developed for fundraising and fiscal management. The program plan must include elements of Duty to God (As Baden-Powell defined our Duty to God) or Faith in God for the Cubs and EYO Scouts, and Come Follow Me (the new curriculum of the church for the older young men).

Membership Measures
