

Campfire (Cubmaster Minute)

A campfire is a remarkable thing. It can be bright enough to light the path back to our tent, and it can be small enough to just barely see. Why is this? It's because of the fuel that we put into the fire – the logs, the kindling, and the oxygen.

Sometimes we as Cub Scout Leaders are like the campfire. How strong we are is dependent upon the fuel we receive from our other leaders, Roundtable, trainings and other Scout resources.

The better the fuel, the stronger our personal "campfire" will be. I encourage you to always challenge yourself & your other leaders, to be the best fuel you can be for your Pack campfire.
