

Play "Bugs" This is a variation of the game "SPUD" that just uses a different word. To play the game, have the boys stand in a circle with IT in the middle. IT throws the ball up straight up in the air and calls out another player's name who has to catch/retrieve the ball. When he gets the ball he yells "BUGS" (again, it's not SPUD anymore!). Everyone stops when he yells BUGS. He then can take four giant steps toward whichever player he wants (spelling out B-U-G-S as he takes them). He then throws the ball at the player to hit him. The other player cannot move from his spot but can move around to dodge the ball. If the thrower misses, he gets a letter, beginning with B, and has to toss the ball. If he hits his target, that player gets the B and he tosses the ball next.

Play "caterpillar" this is a variation to the game "dragon tails" except being a line that forms a dragon, you are a line that forms a caterpillar. A group of boys will join together to make 5-10 different caterpillars with 4-8 boys in one team (caterpillar). The boy at the end places a handkerchief in his back pocket and make sure no one pulls it out (he cannot use his hands or anyone else hands to stop other from pulling it) The person in the front of the caterpillar will try to pull the handkerchief out of the other teams. One the person in the back gets the handkerchief pulled the whole team is out. Also if the team does not stay linked together and break apart, they also are out.